RACIST GENETIC PLOT UNCOVERED

Brisbane, Australia. This is a world-wide emergency alert. A sinister international plot conceived and carried out by corporate multi-nationals, and controlled and financed by the United States of America's military establishment, with cooperation from the governments of France, England, Italy, Germany, and Slovenia has been uncovered. What began as illegal and unethical research for corporate profit and greed has developed into a militarily controlled life-threatening project.

By isolating genes responsible for certain cravings, scientists have produced a "virus" that can carry and consequently alter human genetic structure. "Infected" humans then crave certain products. The "virus" appears to work by activating the inbuilt reward systems in the human brain that are known to control natural cravings for food. Once a human is infected, the virus "takes over" these systems, producing uncontrollable addiction to specific products.

Clandestinely operating for several years with facilities in three countries (that we know of) international scientists have been altering the genetic structure of poultry, specifically battery chickens, to turn them into addicts that crave certain commercial products. Thousands of caged chickens have been used and sacrificed for this experimentation. Those that survived have become living laboratories for the purpose of creating human product junkies.
